FINANCE AND TRADE.

Steadiness the Chief Feature of Local Finances.

Continued Movement of Currency to the Country—Clearings, $3,100,000.

The Produce Markets Steadier, with Fair Activity.

Provisions and Oats Easier—Wheat and Corn Stronger.

FINANCIAL.

The chief characteristic of local finances is the steadiness of the movement in all departments. The clearings indicate an almost unchanged volume of transactions from day to day, and the discount operations of the banks very little in amount. There are, as yet, but few applications comparatively, from the Board of Trade for bank loans, as the amount of stock on hand to be carried is small, and the institutions that usually find employment for their funds in Board of Trade paper, are content to look over the list to see if there is any change in the market to induce them to apply.

The money banks continue to be the heaviest customers of the city, and are applying for increasing advances in loans and currency. Only a moderate amount of commercial and manufacturing paper is offered.

Rates of discount are 8½ per cent at the market to regular customers, and 9 per cent to those who are not regular customers. Call money are 5½ per cent. On the street there is a good demand for desirable negotiable paper. Rates are about the same as those among the banks.

New York exchange was sold between banks at 7½ per $1,000 discount.

The orders from the country for currency were liberal.

The clearings were $3,000,000.

THE AMERICAN MINING BOARD.

The American Mining Board, organized in New York to add the uncertainties of the bonanza stocks to the speculative attractions of Wall street, will begin to hold its annual meeting on Oct. 2.

Its membership now numbers 250. A daily bulletin of transactions and appropriations will be published.

The board has approved the organization of a new approved mining, petroleum, manufacturing and quarrying companies, as well as the prominent San Francisco share.

THE VANDERBILT STOCKS.

The letter published in the New York papers on Monday morning by William H. Vanderbilt, denouncing the efforts of the New York Stock Exchange to prevent the division that had not been declared, had the momentary effect of arresting the bear movement against them in the early part of the day, but the New York Bulletin stated that in the later dealing the Vanderbilt stocks became heavy on the "street" calculation that the letter had been written so as to avoid the responsibility of the Vice-President of sustaining the stocks in the market. If the Vanderbilt would comply with the request of the Stock Exchange for monthly reports of their business, it would be out of the power of speculators to gain any lodgment for their slender. Publicity is in the interest of the companies as well as the public.

THE COUNTY RING.

Second Day's Proceedings in the Prosecution of the Periolat Gang.

Mr. Beardsey Explains How the Commissioners Got Their Groceries.

Ex-Warden Kimberly Put on the Stand.

How He Was Led into Temptation—His Knowledge of Shortage.

General of Mr. Tuley's Interesting Questions Euled Out.

FORENOON SESSION.

BEARDSEY ON THE STAND.

The trial of ex-County Commissioners Ashton, Harris, Jones, Russell, and Crawford, and Commissioner Holden, under the indictment charging them with conspiracy to defraud the county, was resumed in the Criminal Court yesterday morning. The attendance of spectators was about the same as on Wednesday, the case seeming to possess no interesting features to people who have leisure.

The examination of Jerome G. Beardsey, a member of the firm of James Forsythe & Co., was continued. He testified as follows: I can tell by reference to the books of the firm what Commissioners obtained groceries subsequent to July 1, 1874.

Mr. Smith said the witness must have an independent recollection. He could refer to the books only for the purpose of refreshing his memory.

The court allowed the fact that the accounts existed to be shown.

Witness turned to the account of Samuel Ashton in the "General and City Ledger."

Mr. Tuley offered the account in evidence, and said he proposed to follow it up by proving that Ashton got the groceries.

Witness: "July 1, $7, 15; and Sept. 26, 1874, $35.30. That is all Ashton got after July 1, 1874. Another account is John Crawford's—July 6, $30.35, and Dec. 18, 1874, $12.50. Another account is of Nov. 20, 1874 total, $44.15; June 1, 1875, $60.00."

Mr. Smith said the witness must be independent of any other vessel.

He felt very unhappy, and said in the finding of the jewel, he had been told of the good, when Mr. Ed Van Daleson, listening in the dust on the dock.

Prisac was a pump, and was restored all right to drink.

West, while being interrogated, was in contact with his Alabamian.

The D. G. & Co. was the company of the Chicago Dry-Dock Company.

Nicholas told his Alabamian this past year that his Alabamian had his Alabamian.

Mr. Tuley said they proposed to prove it was done by direction of Periolat.

Mr. Harvey remarked that the conspiracy had not yet been proved.

The question was withdrawn.

Witness went on: Nearly all of the accounts have been settled since they were charged to profit and loss, some by receiving a note from D. G. & Co. for the balance.

The witness continued: The remaining bills were also short, the shortage amounting to as much as $100 per month. Commissioners Harris and Johnson knew of this fraud, and had spoken to it.

The conversation was excluded by the Court because the witness could not positively fix the date.

The trial was adjourned.

Mr. Reed said they proposed to prove it was done by direction of Periolat.

Mr. Harvey remarked that the conspiracy had not yet been proved.

The question was withdrawn.

Witness went on: Nearly all of the accounts have been settled since they were charged to profit and loss, some by receiving a note from D. G. & Co. for the balance.

The witness continued: The remaining bills were also short, the shortage amounting to as much as $100 per month. Commissioners Harris and Johnson knew of this fraud, and had spoken to it.

The trial was adjourned.

Mr. Tuley remarked that the acts and declarations of one party were not, and could not be evidence against another, until the conspiracy or combination had been proven; that, however, the acts of one party would be left largely to the discretion of the Court.

The proving of a conspiracy must very largely depend upon circumstances, acts, and declarations.

The only point was whether the prosecution was not to prove the conspiracy before proving the declarations.

Mr. SWETT CONTENDED that the rule of law was that the evidence of the acts and acts of the conspirators did not belong in the case, and the unusual combination had been proven by independent testimony.

Mr. Reed admitted that the ordinary rule was that the conspirators must prove their case, but urged that the order of the evidence was discriminatory with the Court.

Mr. Tuley argued that it was not necessary to admit the evidence of the declarations of A that B was his co-conspirator until it was first shown that A was the agent of B, or, all the same, that B was in the conspiracy.

Mr. Tuley, in reply, commented that the acts of the conspirators were to be shown in the conspiracy, and in order to save the time of the court, it was necessary to prove it to be $10,000; fully insured, of grain in the elevators in grain-owners, and a block had been trying to get the grain trade on the lake. The grain was cents on the dollar, and other ports, like Kingston and other lake ports, firmly demand 2 cents on the dollar.

Mr. Tuley said he had been trying to get the grain to be paid off at 2 cents on the dollar.

Miss Rufa Blanchard, the well-known publisher, delivered a historical lecture at the college chapel, at Westcott, on the evening of the 21st. The lecture was not only interesting, but was illustrated by a large map, and was received with great interest.

The Committee appointed to take action upon the departure of Mrs. Holyska, First Vice-President and Corresponding Secretary of the Women's Temperance Union, have passed some very flattering resolutions in regard to what they can. The Benevolent Association of Savannah is composed exclusively of old ladies.

PLYMOUTH CHURCH.

RECEIVED BY THE CONGREGATIONAL COUNCIL.

An ecclesiastical Council of the Congregational Churches of Chicago was held yesterday afternoon at the lecture-room of Plymouth Congregational Church, No. 940 Michigan avenue. There were present the following reverend gentlemen: Messrs. Goodwin, Ensign, Patton, Peake, Fish, Boardman, Chamberlain, Vanderkam, Kimball, Holbrook, Savage, Powell, Williams and Beecher. Dr. Patton called the Council to order, and the letters-missive were read. The Rev. Mr. Peake was then elected deacon, and on a ballot for Moderator. C. W. Newland, Clerk of the Church, then read the records showing the action which had been taken on the part of Mr. Bartlett's resignation.

Dr. Peake, to whom had been given the heretofore published. H. T. Steele, Deacon of Plymouth Church, spoke briefly of the resignation, saying that it was not sought by any member of the church; and while they had deferred to the wish of their pastor, it was due to them to say that the separation was not a separation of men, but a fall of their spirits either in sympathy, co-operation, or material aid.

The Rev. Mr. Bartlett said that he was ready to resign, to what had been given him. He was driven to do so for the separation by his own feelings.

The Council then voted to be the trustees, and to have the church and its endowment in the body for something like an hour, the doors were opened, and Dr. Goodwin, as Chairman of the Committee on Minutes, read the following resolution: Messrs. Goodwin, Ensign, Patton, Peake, Fish, Boardman, Chamberlain, Vanderkam, Kimball, Holbrook, Savage, Powell, Williams and Beecher. The Council then voted to be the trustees, and to have the church and its endowment in the body for something like an hour, the doors were opened, and Dr. Goodwin, as Chairman of the Committee on Minutes, read the following resolution:

The Council recommend that the church accept the resignation of its pastor, and that the relation now existing between them, be dissolved. In regard to the pastor, the Council voted to express its profound regret at the circumstances which render this dissolution necessary. And yet it is happy to find that the church and society are still in a position to do what is right.

The Council further desires to put on record its gratification that, after a series of two fires, the union of two societies, and the building of a costly edifice in times of great difficulty, the pastor has been induced to make it.

In advising this dissolution, the Council is pained to find that the state of Brother Bartlett's health, as evidenced in part by the death of his wife, who was raised in the church, and the death of his son, Mr. Rogers, and family are stopping, and say their farewells. Those having the matter in charge hope to see every member of the congregation at that service.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Mr. Rogers, late Rector of the Church of the Epiphany, will leave for Texas early next week, and the congregation, instead of calling individually to say good-bye to him, will call en masse at Saturday evening at the rectory of Mr. St. John's Church, Cincinnati, where Mr. Rogers and family are stopping, and say their farewells. Those having the matter in charge hope to see every member of the congregation at that service.
